

home
furniture engineering sourcing company

Sugar Cube Light

Intensive worldwide research by Arto in Munich has given us the first lamp with a shade made from sugar cubes. Why? Who cares, it's cool, and it gives off an interesting organic glow. The sugar is coated in plastic to keep it from dissolving or turning into caramel. Made in a Bavarian workshop for the handicapped. Only $153. If they make this in a 120V version, I'm getting one. Via Design Spotter.

POSTED BY SCOTT EDWORTH ON JAN 10, 2006

1 COMMENT

POST A COMMENT

← Home

RECENT POSTS

Sands Mulholland Slat Bench

truedesign.com

Bonnie and Clyde Nesting Tables

LAX Series Sliding Doors

Chalkate Clock

Raw Design Studio

Denmark Daybed

Anjo Lighting

Tizian Bench

Tortoise: Copper Tea Leaf Container

ARCHIVES

December 2005

January 2006

February 2006

March 2006

FEED

Atom